

AWAIR | Breathe Easy

Do you know what's in the air you breathe?

Indoor air can be up to 5 times more contaminated than outdoor air, which causes allergies, asthma, poor overall wellbeing and a lack of productivity.

Studies have proven that working in a healthy environment leads to employee wellbeing and reduces absenteeism and diseases. The increase in productivity has been estimated at up to $15,500 per employee per year.

Awair Omni tracks the toxins and chemicals in the air you breathe so you always know whether the air quality is healthy or harmful to your health.

2-minute setup

The Omni sensors identify the five key factors that determine air quality:

Temperature.

An ideal temperature fosters wellbeing and a good mood.

Humidity

High levels of humidity lead to feeling cold and getting colds. And at low levels, the throat, eyes and skin can feel dry.

Maintaining the ideal humidity is good for our health.

CO2

It has been proven that indoor exposure to carbon dioxide can affect performance and decision-making.

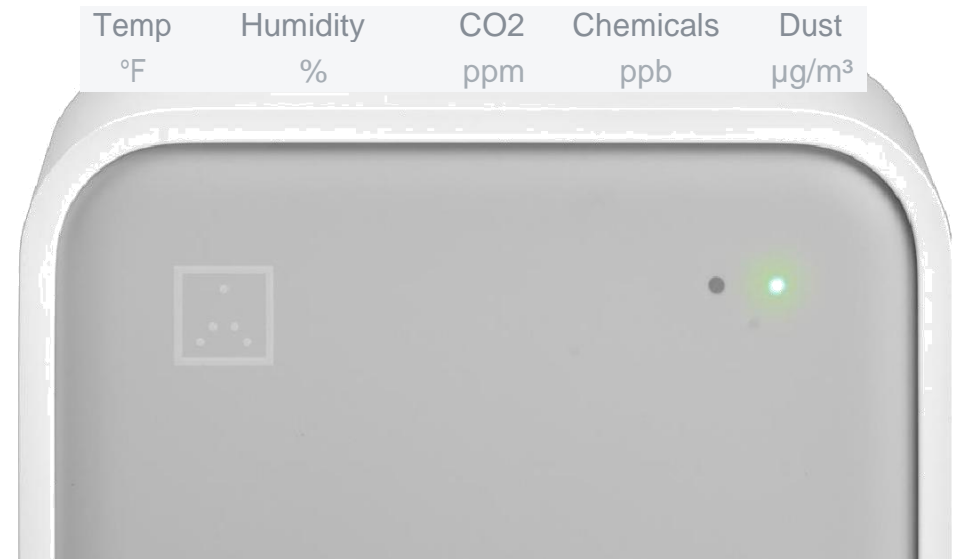

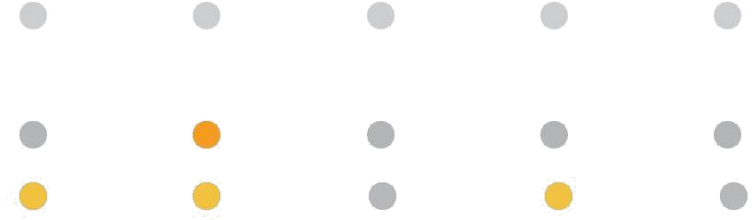

Volatile Organic Compounds (VOCs)

Many chemical products of daily use can release toxins into the air and cause irritation in the skin and respiratory tract.

Dust (PM2.5 and PM10)

Dust travels all the way to our lungs and causes serious health problems like asthma and allergies.
